??-?-? The De-Vine Truth ??-?-??

Why is oak useful in winemaking

Answer: Since Roman times oak vats and barrels have been used for fermenting and aging wine. Oak also adds flavors such as toast, vanilla and even coconut. The amount of oak used is not a sign of quality.

FREE SATURDAY TASTINGS
Drop-in from 2 to 5 P.M. and taste specially selected wines in an informal and relaxed atmosphere

New Fall Arrivals

Albet i Noya (Spain) Producer of organic wines as early as 1979, Albet i Noya makes wines suitable for the strictest vegans. This collection, recently tasted by our staff, offers subtlety and concentration at a reasonable price. The Tempranillo, Chardonnay, Cava and Priorato will be on our shelves soon. From $14.99

Copain Wine Cellars (California, USA) Willis Guthrie is a young winemaker who studied with Jean-Louis Chave in the Rhône Valley. He later returned to California to establish his own winery. His wines are organic and unfiltered, reflecting his philosophy of minimal intervention. Limited yields ensure maximum concentration. TBA

Domaine Moulinier (Languedoc, France) The Mouliniers caused a sensation when, in the mid '90s, their "Terrasses Grillées" won best Syrah in an international tasting. It is now recognized as one of the best Syrahs in the world. We are proud to introduce this amazing wine along with the "Tradition", a splendid Rhône blend. From $18.99

Fattoria Monacesca (Marches, Italy) Without a doubt the best producer of Verdicchio! Monacesca was recommended to us by author and wine expert Burton Anderson. Complex and packed with flavor, the reds are to die for. From $13.99

Villa Matilde (Campania, Italy) Under the guidance of the esteemed Ricardo Cottarella, this estate is now producing the best wines in southern Italy. Arriving soon: the Falanghina, the Falerno and the Aglianico. From $14.99

?-?-?-? The De-Vine Truth ?-?-?-?

How much wine should you drink each day?

Answer: French Health authorities recommend 14 ounces of wine as the safe daily consumption rate for healthy men (slightly less for women). This doesn't mean saving up and binge-drinking. It's the best tasting medicine we've come across...
